

Stop!

She washed her hands in the bathroom... but how many things did she touch before sitting down to lunch?

- doorhandle
- handrail
- elevator button
- back of a chair

The most common way for an infection to get into a person is via their hands and then mouth. Helping your patients and residents to use hand sanitizer immediately before eating can reduce the transmission of infection.